

A Unique Technology for Today's World

Earth is home to thousands of varieties of algae that have evolved to survive in harsh environments by combatting UV damage, dry conditions and temperature extremes. The extensive diversity of Algenol's strain collection coupled with our advanced technology provides an unparalleled opportunity to unlock novel products.

Algenol has the capability to develop all natural products, as well as customize biology solutions to meet a variety of needs. We are your one stop shop for product development from lab to commercial production.

Algenol's strong IP and advanced technology position across numerous platforms providing a distinct edge against competition in the field.

Contract Services

- Joint product development
- Product optimization
- Contract R&D
- Contract manufacturing
- Supply agreements

Features of Algenol's Algal Extracts

Algenol's Algal Extracts can serve a variety of roles in your formulation. Our technology guarantees our products are clean, natural and reliable. They are all cultivated sustainably at our Florida, USA facility.

Our Algal Extracts can provide the following:

Advanced Anti-Aging

Powerful Hydration

Skin Barrier Repair

Antioxidant Activity

Anti-Inflammatory

Blue Light Protection

Improve Appearance of Skin

Vibrant Natural Color

Contact us for more information